“Ethics and Boundaries”

6 CEU’S

Practical solutions to real issues

Objectives

- . five key ethical principals and how to apply them in analyzing a situation;
- . key differences in privacy rules related to substance abuse prevention or treatment as opposed to psychotherapy and health care in general;
- . describe legal mandates and ethical duties to take action on complaints about other providers, and also the limits of such duties;
- . describe some basic professional and ethical duties relative to self harm and suicide;
- . explain federal and state rules and principles which deal with the “duty to warn or protect “ in situations with violent clients;
- . explain the standards for personal interaction with clients and former clients in substance abuse settings versus other health care settings;
- . describe the practical and legal concerns in being a supervisor or consultant;
- . review boundary issues connected with the internet-email, use of google, Facebook, blogs, and other tools.
